DEDICATION

Phyllis Iovino

The 1982-83 yearbook is dedicated to Phyllis Iovino. Without her energy and resourcefulness this yearbook would not have become a reality. Phyllis has been a constant source of support throughout the adventure of putting together a complete yearbook.

Phyllis Iovino has worked for the school for twenty years as of August 1983. She has spent all of those twenty years as the secretary to the Dean of Students. She is a graduate of Northwestern University and Catherine Gibbs Secretarial School. On campus she is involved in many things including ODK. Off campus she is active in her church as a soloist and with a historical organization of her nationality.

Thanks Phyllis for being there when I needed someone who knew all the answers!!!!!!

COLLEGE PRESIDENT

Ivan E. Frick

Ivan E. Frick has been president of Elmhurst College since 1971. Since coming to Elmhurst, President Frick has seen physical and financial growth become a reality as evidenced by the "Projects for the 80s" and our new gym. A well educated man, five degrees, students have found him to be accessible and willing to listen, he can even manage a smile now and then. President Frick hopes and is planning for a continued growth and success in future years at Elmhurst. He will probably realize his dreams.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees is the chief governing body of Elmhurst College. The full Board meets in October, February, and May. The Board makes all the decisions concerning school tuition, finances, and spending.

NCAA Division Championship

The EC wrestling team was built up of new blood; having more freshmen than returning students. This year they shot for the upper spectrum of weight classes. Our team didn't do badly coming away with a third place in CCIW and a record of 12-4.

WRESTLING

EC Men's tennis team was close to being "super-hot" this year. They came close to being the first in CCIW competition. Instead they came away with a third in the competition which is still an achievement to be proud.

COLLEGE UAZ FESTIVAL

Hammerschmidt Chapel - Elmhurst, Illinois

The Jazz Festival was a huge success with good performances by College and High School bands competing for the honors. The festival lasted throughout the weekend starting at 1 pm on Friday and ending on Sunday with an awards presentation. Along with the bands we were joined by several professional jazz musicians. Among them were Pete Christlieb, Jay Daverson, and Les Hooper.

FOR A FARM CHILD, AGE FIVE, THE WORLD IS a fine field fed by green gracious streams that overflow and send their waves with feet underneath waters through dense grass to feed giant weeds and tangled trees that touch sky-high clouds of cream and fleece above wheat fields gold and mine and corn fields straight and proud that strong winds shake loud with fire sounds and cow fields slow move, not afraid of you beasts with wet-flex muscles under sleek skins moo that scare the duck ponds rising with the beat of wings to black dots, blue sky, milkweed, cottontail left behind with me, with moo, with dandelion and clover in black earth, good dirt, red sunset means the end, suppertime and bed.

Interrupt me?

What was I doing—nothing—or everything but not at the same time except for knocking the fat cat off the chair back and dangling a thick slice of cheese in front of her so she stands like a wise old Buddha in a three colored fur; nothing but mouthing a slice of cheese then leaving the rest on the kitchen counter to warm and melt a little bit back to milk or cream or whatever cheese is—

The snowfall today was fat sponges from the sky melting against the warm windscreen, poofs of water settling with dancing grins on the ground, doing nothing new but nothing is.

Interrupt me?

Always tough to organize you always a challenge—a few yards short a few yards off. Always organize on paper cards with a romance on the front; wicked romance with bound blonde hair and the breath of babies all around, angelkins, childpiles, youth forever poised, posed in privacy, eyes in mayonnaise gazes on bare breasted shoulders; organize these sweet utterances from lost lips and whiskers taken away for a few hours of kissing a silly dream and scaring it when the curtain rises; a dream I'll never know and won't ever want understanding of because it can't be worded for the likes of you and we're all alike in this. Interrupt me?

How can it be, sitting on scruffy sheets being properly purred at by a liver eating cat, sitting dirty, crusty almost scabs, sitting crooked like a birch as a redbud dies outside the window and the yellow cup spring blossoms freeze in bloated rainfalls, as tropical plants indoors thrist and silk roses from the five and ten loop around hanger wire on a post know with once a month red ribbons that have never known the wind; a kite hung on the airvent that's never known the sky and juncos and jays pecking millet out of terra cotta—something they'd never have seen if it weren't some peculiar act of biology leading me to spread food in the cold when I've steak in the freezer.

Denise Panagakos First Prize Poem Broken Dolls

Nightly I sit inside my seclusion holding my memory box of eternity candles.

I swallow my silence And sitting in quiet wedged in deep a cough reveals my frenzy.

Contemplating nothingness, staring, I anxiously await Like a monkey at the zoo.

Your prized possession, Done in basic black, solid in form, No longer dresses your shelf but lies forbidden. Closed content of the cupboard.

Decored parrafin through keyholes, incense burns.

And like a memory
You are cobwebbed in the scent of their encapsulation.

while Celebrating.

HONORS CONVOCATION

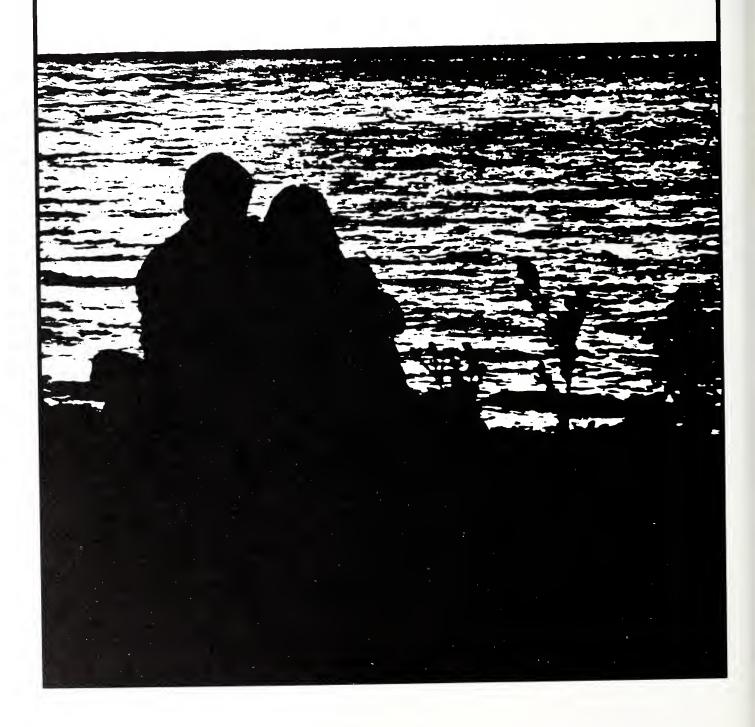

The Spring Honors Convocation was held on May 10, 1983. After an invocation given by Carmella Braico, Mr. Milton Darr issued greetings to those attending. Dean Schmiechen on the achievements upon entering an honor society or honorary. Dean Cunningham spoke on Team and group achievement. Matthew Mimlitz and Rudolph Schade spoke on General Individual achievement and Individual scholastic achievement respectively. President Frick gave the closing remarks to a time which will be long remembered by those honored here.

The American Chemical Society—Student Affiliate is an organization devoted to a better understanding of Chemistry. It also provides a chance for chemistry majors to get together and consult with others in their field of interest. Membership is open to all chemistry students.

American Society of Personnel Administrators

The members of ASPA

The ASPA is an organization for the purpose of allowing fellow Personnel Administration students a chance to discuss their field. They often have speakers who will discuss the ins and outs of dealing with many types of people in many different situations.

The Business and Economics club is involved in bringing students together who are interested in the overall business field. They host speakers from many business backgrounds and often have activities to interest the non-business students.

FELLOWSHIP OF CHRISTIAN ATHLETES

Greg Orcutt, Katherine Ey, Florina Veira, Debbie Griffin, and Dominic Schiavone

It takes commitment to be an athlete and these athletes are some of the most committed. Fellowship of Christian Athletes combines a commitment to athletics with a commitment to a Christian life. And the ranks of FCA have been filled by some famous people such as Roger Staubach, Senator Bill Bradley and Earl Campbell. This is evidence that belonging to Fellowship of Christian Athletes is part of a very rewarding experience.

speech (spēch), n. 1. the faculty or power of speaking; oral communication; expression of human thought and emotions by speech sounds and gesture. 2. that which is spoken; an utterance, remark, or declaration: an eloquent speech. 3. a form of communication in spoken language, made by a speaker before an audience for a given purpose. 4. any single utterance of an actor in the course of a play . . . (The Random House American Dictionary)

The Forensic Society is dedicated to the pursuit of speech in all forms and have even earned some awards for this pursuit. Keep it UP!

GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY

The members and sponsers of the society

The purpose of this society is to further the professional interest in geography. This is achieved by presenting members with a view of geography outside of the classroom. Many activities are planned and students are encouraged to participate in research and student publications.

Wilkommen! Bien Venue! Welcome! These are some of the many greetings the International Club is to have been heard saying. (Is it true?) International Club is open to all students interested in the study and promotion of foreign languages. Many activities are planned throughout the year such as an international Christmas, French breakfast, and a Mardi-Gras celebration. Any one on a diet need not apply!! All of these activities are sponsered by the Department of Foreign Language and Literatures.

The members of the Music Educators National Conference share many interests. They share a love of music and interest in the field of music as a profession. That is the purpose of this conference to promote an awareness of the music field as a profession and to help those that are interested in this field. Throughout the year activities are planned that will be of interest, and also many speakers are brought to the campus so that the students will be able to experience for themselves what music education is all about.

Next time you meet some one in this field ask them questions about what they are doing, after all there are many people who can not.

UNION BOARD

The members of the Union Board

Union Board is the title which could be named "Student Activities Board." It is this organization that is responsible for such activities as Homecoming, FOF, speakers, movies, and yes, even this yearbook. Each committee is represented at the Union Board meetings which enable the working Chairpersons to interact and inform the others of their plans and discuss problems that are reflective of the Board's programming. Chairperson positions are obtained by applying in November of the year and being interviewed for that particular position. Budgeting for each committee is made possible by the total amount of student activity fees paid by each full-time day student.

This committee is devoted to promoting cultural awareness and understanding on our campus. Black Affairs sponsors speakers, Black Awareness week, and Black History month in order to achieve this goal.

FACULTY & STAFF

Faculty, Art Department

ART

The basic courses of the Art Department are designed for the student to gain an understanding of the fine arts as an essential ingredient to the liberal arts education.

MUSIC

The music department offers courses to help students deepen their understanding of the art. Students can complete courses to gain a degree in music performance, education or business.

Faculty, Music Department

The members of the Faculty for the English department

The Department of English offers courses that satisfy distribution requirements in Language and Thought, courses leading to majors and minors in English, courses that support certification for teaching English in secondary schools, and courses students may choose as electives in a variety of liberal arts degree programs.

The Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures seeks to give students the ability to communicate in a language other than their own. The study of language fosters interest in different cultures, develops an understanding of the significance of language in human affairs, and promotes self-growth through interaction with the languages and peoples of other cultures.

The Faculty for the Foreign Languages and Literatures department

ENGLISH FOREIGN LANGUAGES AND LITERATURES

EDUCATION PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The Education Department offers a full range of courses to provide an adequate base of ideas, understanding, and skills needed by the beginning teacher, with some advanced courses also for the post graduate teacher. Basic programs are provided for the preparation of elementary school teachers and for junior high and high school teachers.

Faculty for the Department of Education

The Department of Physical Education administers the service course program in addition to a professionally oriented program of studies designed to prepare students for a career in teaching, coaching, and directing physical and recreational activities. Many of the courses offered are at off-campus location, such as Raquetball courts, etc.

Faculty for the Department of Physical Education

BIOLOGY

CHEMISTRY

The faculty members of the Biology Department

The faculty members of the Chemistry Department

The Biology Department offers students an opportunity for varied classroom, laboratory, and independent research experiences. Outstanding collections of animals and plants are available in nearby zoos, museums, conservatories, and arboretums.

The education of chemistry students at both introductory and advanced levels is intended to reflect the relation ship of chemistry with other disciplines and to be responsive to the impact of chemical science on society.

GEOLOGY

Geology Department faculty members

A major in the Department of Geography and Environmental Planning emphasizes the interactions and relationships between man and his spatial and physical environment. As such, the curriculum effectively links the social and natural sciences.

PHYSICS

The science of physics seeks to comprehend the large number of physicial phenomena in the world in terms of a small number of fundamental concepts and principles such as the theories of the gravitational and electromagnetic fields, relativity, and quantum mechanics.

MATH

The math department is full of capable instructors in the field. Anything from numbers to computers. The course offering includes basic math to difficult courses from calcus to ??

CENTER FOR BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

The members of the faculty

The center for Business and Economics administers the academic programs for the Department of Business Administration and the Department of Economics. It offers core courses designed to provide students with a broad base of knowledge as well as more specialized courses enabling students to develop their interest and professional competence.

NURSING

The members of the Nursing faculty

The Nursing Faculty of Elmhurst College believes that baccalaureate nursing education rests upon a broad foundation in the arts and sciences. The philosophy of the Deicke Center for Nursing Education is based on the Judeo-Christian tradition and is in harmony with the Mission statement of the College.

SPEECH

Faculty, Speech Department

Four majors are offered by the department. A student may major in speech communication, in theatre, in speech education, or in speech-language and hearing pathology. The department also participates in an interdepartmental communication major. Most of the course offerings may be taken by both majors and non-majors; some of the courses meet part of the language and thought requirement; some of them meet the fine arts requirement.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

The Political Science Department offers courses in the major fields of political science; American Politics and Government; Comparative Government; Public Administration; Public Law; International Relations and Political Theory.

Sociology

Sociology, the scientific study of society, contributes to both the liberal and career education of the Elmhurst student. It contributes to liberal education by fostering an awareness of the impact of social forces on each individual.

Urban Studies

The Urban Studies curriculum is designed to provide the student with an interdisciplinary, career-foucused major. An intergral part of the program is the use of the greater Chicagoland area as a laboratory for study. Field trips, guest speakers, and practical experiences are combined with classroom instruction and research projects to provide the student with a complete learning experience.

Psychology

Faculty, Psychology Department

Psychology, as the science of behavior and human experience, can be viewed as a behavioral, social, natura, experimental, and human science. Using scientific methods, pshychologists add to our understanding of the quality and direction of human life by studying how a person thinks, perceives, feels and learns; the causes of these events; the nature of differences in personality and ability; forms of human interactions; development and growth through the life cycle; and the origins and types of human discomfort and maladaptive behaviors.

PHILOSOPHY

Faculty, Philosophy Departmnet

The Department of Philosophy offers courses that satisfy Foundations requirements, courses needed for a major or minor in philosophy, and other courses students may wish to select as electives in completing a variety of liberal arts degree programs.

THEOLOGY

Faculty, Theology Department

Theology is the disciplined study of the faith and life of a religious community. The foucus of our work is on probing the relationships between Christian faith and the contemporary world of learning and living.

HISTORY

Courses offered by the Department of History may be counted toward the Social Science requirement or toward a major or minor in history.

DEAN OF COLLEGE AND STAFF

The Dean

This is the office responsible for the academic program offered here at Elmhurst.

The Dean of Students has as his primary duties the adjustment, development, and well-being of the individual student and the administration of staff and policies which relate to those responsibilities. The Dean is available to individual students to assist them in finding and making use of the resources of the College to their best advantage both as individuals and as members of the campus community.

The 1982-83 yearbook has had it's share of mishaps. Some avoidable and others not. When I took over the completion of this yearbook in August of 1983, I didn't know much about the layout and copy writing for a yearbook. In the past couple of months I've learned plenty. As a one man staff, production went slowly. For this reason this yearbook is late. I do not apologize for the quality of the yearbook, I did the best I could and am proud of that fact, I apologize only for the delay in getting the book into the hands of those who want to see the memories and relive the good times of the year shown within. I hope this book provides the spark necessary to rekindle the happy memories of 1982-83. I give to you the finished product and hope it is all that you expected.

Holding on to the memories, Kathleen A. Kowalik Acting Editor, 1983 ELMS
